Case Study

A leading pan-Indian MNC had a decentralized payroll process. This resulted in using up substantial time of their resources month-on-month, with a mandated manual intervention. While the supposed automation of payroll was considered a complete failure by the management, the employees were irked by delays in salary disbursement and inefficient and non-standard processes.

When TalentPro's Payroll professionals did an audit and gave the feedback on client's existing system, they analyzed and wrote procedures within a month's time viz., A completely automated centralized process, lesser resources, standardized processes and reports all of which facilitated salary disbursements on the same day across the company locations. The management was happy with a single SLA for all the locations and finally was able to experience better control of the payroll process.
